Cerebro-Spinal-Meningitis.

The prevention of cerebro-spinal-meningitis depends upon isolation of the cases and the continuation of this quarantine, as long as the convalescent shows the presence of the germs in the sputum. The disease is spread by the sputum; consequently in cases, the sputum should be prevented from coming in contact with anything to be subsequently used either by the convalescent or by others. Such protection of the sputum may be quite easily accomplished by the use of tissue paper napkins which are held in front of the mouth during the act of coughing to catch the fine particles of sputum. When the coughing has subsided, the napkin may be folded and the individual may expectorate the mass of sputum into the center of the napkin. The napkin should then be rolled, the ends twisted so that it can not come unrolled, and deposited in a receptacle kept for this purpose. At intervals the rolls should be burned. This is perhaps cheaper and more sanitary than any type of cuspidor.

Anyone coming in contact with a patient or convalescent is liable to contract the disease or to take the germs into his system and become infected with an attack of the disease. A person having such an infection is a germ carrier of this disease and is of as much danger to the community as the one who has had the disease; in fact he is of more danger because his condition may not be suspected and he does not protect the community as does the patient or convalescent; consequently during quarantine one should not receive visitors.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of Them in Lexington, and Good Reasons for it.

Wouldn't any woman be happy:

After years of backache suffering.

Days of misery, nights of unrest,

The distress of urinary troubles.

When she finds freedom.

Many Lexington readers will profit by the following.

Mrs. D. W. Weedon, 1817 Railroad St., Lexington, Mo., says:

"I was gradually going into dropsy. My feet and ankles were so swollen that I had to keep increasing the size of my shoes. It was the same with my hands and wrists. My kidneys were out of order and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. I had headaches and dizzy spells and there was constant pain in the small of my back. I couldn't sleep well. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me after other remedies had failed."

Mrs. Weedon gave the above testimonial in May, 1906, and when our representative interviewed her on October 16, 1912, she said: "You may continue to use my reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. I keep them in the house all the time and a few doses occasionally, kept my kidneys in good shape."

City Council Proceedings.

The City Council at their meeting Tuesday among other things passed a resolution to pave Highland avenue. This will be good news to everyone living in Lexington, as the street is in very bad condition. This improvement will fill the gap between the rock road and the paving on Main street.

John Ashurst was the successful bidder for the curbing.

Mrs. Jesse Menough returned yesterday from a visit with relatives in Bloomington, Illinois.

The Quickest Settlement of Insurance on Record.

We have our property insured in the Patrons Mutual Insurance Company of Lafayette County Missouri.

On the morning of April 3rd, 1913, one of our barns was struck by lightning at 5:30 o'clock a. m. and burned to the ground.

I received the company's check as payment in full for loss at 11:50 o'clock a. m. on the same date.

I consider the Patrons Mutual almost as quick as "lightning," when it comes to a settlement.

GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH THE Farm Journal

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim milk") is the great little paper published for 36 years in Philadelphia by Wilmer Atkinson. It is taken and read by more families than any other farm paper in the WORLD. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the most intelligent and prosperous country people that grow, and they always say the Farm Journal helped to make them so. Their potatoes are larger, their milk tests higher, their hogs weigh more, their fruit brings higher prices, because they read the Farm Journal.

Do you know Peter Tumbledown, the old fellow who won't take the Farm Journal? By showing how NOT to run a farm, Peter makes many prosperous. Nobody can go on reading the Farm Journal and being a Tumbledown too. Many have tried, but all have to quit one or the other.

The Farm Journal is bright, brief, "boiled down," practical, full of gumption, cheer and sunshine. It is strong on housekeeping and home-making, a favorite with busy women, full of life and fun for boys and girls. It sparkles with wit, and a happy, sunny spirit. Practical as a plow, readable as a novel. Clean and pure, not a line of fraudulent or nasty advertising. All its advertisers are guaranteed trustworthy.

The Farm Journal gives more for the money and puts it in fewer words than any other farm paper. 32 to 80 pages monthly, illustrated. FIVE years (60 issues) for $1.00 only. Less than 2 cents a month. No one-year, two-year or three-year subscriptions taken at any price.

The Farm Journal Booklets have sold by hundreds of thousands, and have made a sensation by revealing the SECRETS OF MONEY-MAKING in home industry. People all over the country are making money by their methods.

POULTRY SECRETS is a collection of discoveries and methods of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, the Currier method of getting one-half more pullets than cockerels, Boyer's method of insuring fertility, and priceless secrets of breeding, feeding, how to produce winter eggs, etc.

HORSE SECRETS exposes all the methods of "bitching," "plugging," cocaine and gasoline doping, and other tricks of "gypsies" and swindlers, and tells how to tell an unsound horse. Gives many valuable training secrets.

CORN SECRETS, the great NEW hand-book of Prof. Holden, the "Corn King," shows how to get ten to twenty bushels more per acre of corn, rich in protein and the best stock-feeding elements. Pictures make every process plain.

EGG SECRETS tells how a family of six can make hens turn its table scraps into a daily supply of fresh eggs. If you have a back-yard, get this booklet, learn how to use every scrap of the kitchen waste, and live better at less cost.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells how seven cows were made to produce half a ton of butter each year, (140 pounds is the average). An eye-opener. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn the good ones into record-breakers.

STRAWBERRY SECRETS is a revelation of the discoveries and methods of L. J. Farmer, the famous expert, in growing luscious tall strawberries almost until snow flies. How and when to plant, how to fertilize, how to remove the blossoms, how to get three crops in two years, etc.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your backyard supply fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, keep a better table, and get cash for your surplus. How to plant, cultivate, harvest and market.

DUCK DOLLARS tells how the great Weber duck-farm near Boston makes every year 50 cents each on 40,000 ducklings. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens, and just HOW they do everything.

TURKEY SECRETS discloses fully the methods of Horace Vose, the famous Rhode Island "turkey-man," who supplies the White House Thanksgiving turkeys. It tells how to mate, to set eggs, to hatch, to feed and care for the young, to prevent sickness, to fatten, and how to make a turkey-ranch PAY.

The MILLION EGG-FARM gives the methods by which J. M. Foster made over $18,000 a year, mainly from eggs. All chicken-raisers should learn about the "Kancocas Unit," and how Foster FEELS hens to produce such quantities of eggs, especially in winter.

DRESSMAKING SELF-TAUGHT shows how any intelligent woman can design and make her own clothes, in the height of fashion. The author has done it since she was a girl. She now has a successful dressmaking establishment and a school of dressmaking. Illustrated with diagrams.

SHALL I FARM? is a clear, impartial statement of both advantages and drawbacks of farming, to help those who have to decide this important question. It warns you of dangers, swindles, and mistakes, tells how to start, equipment needed, its cost, chances of success, how to get government aid, etc.

These booklets are 6 x 9 inches, and profusely illustrated.

What Our Folks Say About F. J.

"I have had more help, encouragement and enjoyment out of it in one year than I did out of my other papers in ten years," says C. M. Persons.

"It is a queer little paper. I have sometimes read it through and thought I was done with it, then pick it up again and find something new to interest me," says Alfred Krogh.

"Farm Journal is like a bit of sunshine in our home. It is making a better class of people out of farmers. It was first sent me as a Christmas present, and I think it the choicest present I ever received," says F. E. LeValley.

"We have read your dear little paper for nearly 40 years. Now we don't live on the farm any more, yet I still have a hankering for the old paper. I feel that I belong to the family, and every page is as dear and familiar as the faces of old friends," says Mrs. E. W. Edwards.

"I fear I neglect my business to read it. I wish it could be in the hands of every farmer in Virginia," says W. S. Cline.

"I live in a town where the yard is only 15 x 18 feet, but I could not do without the Farm Journal," says Miss Sara Carpenter.

"I get lots of books and papers, and put them aside for future reading. The only paper I seem to have in my hands all the time is Farm Journal. I can't finish reading it. Can't you make it less interesting, so I can have a chance at my other papers?" writes John Swail.

"I am lonesome, down-hearted, or tired, I go to Farm Journal for comfort, next to the Bible," says Mabel Dewitt.

"Farm Journal has a cheerful vein running through it that makes it a splendid cure for the 'blues.' When coming home tired in mind and body, I sit down and read it, and it seems to give me new inspiration for life," writes G. E. Halderman.

"We have a brother-in-law who loves a joke. We live in Greater New York, and consider ourselves quite civilized, so when he sent us the Farm Journal as a New Year's gift we nearly died laughing. 'How to raise hogs'—we who only use bacon in glass jars! 'How to keep cows clean'—when we use condensed milk even for rice pudding! 'How to plant onions'—when we never plant anything more fragrant than lilies of the valley. I accepted the gift with thanks, for we are too well-bred to look a gift horse in the mouth. Soon my eye was caught by a beautiful poem. I began to read it, then when I wanted the Farm Journal I found my husband deeply interested in an article. Then my oldest son began to ask, 'Has the Farm Journal come yet?' He is a jeweler, and hasn't much time for literature; but we find to much interest and uplift in this fine paper that we appreciate our New Year's gift more and more," writes Ella E. Burkhman.

"I received 'Corn Secrets' and 'Poultry Secrets,' and consider them worth their weight in gold," says W. G. Newall.

"What your Egg Book tells would take a beginner years to learn," says Roy Chaney.

"Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says F. M. Warnock.

"If your other booklets contain as much valuable information as the Egg-Book, I would consider them cheap at double the price," says F. W. Mansfield.

"I think your Egg-Book is a wonder," says C. F. Shirley.

"The Farm Journal beats them all. Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription," writes T. H. Potter.

"One year ago I took another agricultural paper, and it took a whole column to tell what Farm Journal tells in one paragraph," says N. M. Gladwin.

"It ought to be in every home where there is a chick, a child, a cow, a cherry, or a cucumber," says I. D. Bordus.
